

KITCHEN REMODELING. IT'S ALL IN THE DETAILS.

You're planning a kitchen remodel - you've understandably read every guide out there, endless blogs, far too many magazines. Yet almost every one of them overlooks something critical - the overriding influence and importance of the smaller details.

Beyond choosing the right style, deciding on distinct areas of use or picking the right products there are key decisions to be made for the finer of details. This includes the use of lighting - both artificial and natural - which creates ambience, separates functional areas and affects when you may use your kitchen and what for.

Then, there are the understated features that are essential for any luxury kitchen - carefully considered built-in storage, soft close draws, integrated electricals and bespoke accessories.

The finishing touches are of equal importance - your choice of handles and doorknobs, the teaming of textiles with tile, the taps and hidden areas that provide a place for every last dish, bowl and cooking utensil.

All of these finer details combined, create quite the unmistakable impact, overall.

“No matter the project at hand, whether we're building a brand-new luxury home from the ground up, or remodeling a bespoke kitchen, projects can be made or broken on the finest details.”

-Jason Gonterman

